what is it?

A Night to Remember is a fundraising event billed as the "Ultimate Girls Night Out." Its Spring, 2009 debut was a smashing success, measured by the number of guests, vendors and sponsors who told us how much they enjoyed themselves and that they could not wait for next year.

Planning for the 2010 event is underway!

A Night to Remember 2010 moves to the Binghamton Regency with an expanded format and plan to reach more than 300 women in the region.

why participate?

The answer to this question is simple — we can help you reach a coveted demographic. Our event is aimed directly at women between the ages of 30-65. These are the decision makers at home and work. They juggle busy professional and personal lives and their time is at a premium. We bring them together for an evening of:

- Pampering, with massage therapy and manicures
- Fine food and desserts, courtesy of the area's finest eateries
- Clothing and jewelry, with the latest styles from local businesses and consultants
- Shopping, with displays from local shops and vendors

A silent auction of donated items attracts bids throughout the evening.

By participating, your business will have access to a captive audience to market your goods or services. In return, you build your customer base and earn their respect as an organization that supports the 10,100 people in the Southern Tier living with Alzheimer's.

silent auction

Part of the evening's program is a silent auction of items which appeal to women. Artwork, gift certificates, gift baskets, jewelry and wine were all high-interest items at the 2009 event.

To donate an item for the silent auction, contact the Southern Tier Regional Office to arrange for pickup or delivery of your item (contact info on reverse).

donations

Companies who are not able to take part as a sponsor, advertiser or auction donor may make a cash donation in support of the event. Donations will be acknowledged by mail for tax purposes and recognized in the event journal.

Use the form on the reverse to make your corporate donation.
