education...

Living with Alzheimer's: For People with Alzheimer's is an interactive three-part program where you will have a chance to hear from others who have been where you are. We will discuss what you need to know, what you need to plan and what you can do to navigate this chapter of your life. For a complete listing of consumer educational programs, visit our website at www.alz.org/desjsepa rec center...

The Rocket Educational Community Center for Life Long Learning meets throughout the Delaware Valley and offers opportunities for people in the earliest stages of the disease to engage in social, volunteer and cultural activities and events. The REC Center is designed to stimulate life long learning and social engagement.

support groups...

Since 2011, the Alzheimer's Association Delaware Valley Chapter has been the community leader in providing early stage dual support groups. Learning Together: A Specialized Program for Individuals with Memory Loss and their Families is an informational and supportive group that makes it possible for families to learn more about the disease, as well as understand their feelings about the changes dementia has made on their daily life. Early stage persons and care partners must attend
