

IN-HOME CARE

Home care encompasses a wide range of health and social services that are delivered at home to persons in need of medical, nursing, social, or therapeutic treatment and/or assistance with the essential activities of daily living. Visiting nurses, home health aides and homemakers can provide services such as bathing, dressing, meal preparation, household chores and companionship.

Questions to ask an agency:

- How long has the agency been in business?
- Do they offer a free consultation prior to the start of service?
- What kind of experience and/or certification is required of employees before they are hired?
- Do employees receive specialized training regarding patients with Alzheimer's or dementia?
Who provides the training?
- Do employees provide transportation and for what purposes?
- Are the employees bonded and insured?
- Will the agency provide a list of references both for the agency and the individual employees?
- Is the agency Medicare/Medicaid approved? What is the cost of services?
- What specific services will the caregivers provide?
- What provisions do you have for emergency coverage?
- Do you have a system to provide back up coverage if needed?

Inclusion on the list does not indicate a recommendation or endorsement. It is important you research the agencies to determine which best suit your needs.
