

During football season, you probably hope your team becomes this year's champion...

But when it comes to fighting Alzheimer's disease, we're all Champions—because we're the team that's fighting to end this disease!

Throughout the football season, please join other Alzheimer Champions across the country who will tailgate to support their favorite high school, college, and professional football teams.

And when you bring your friends together for food, games, and fun, please add to the party by collecting urgently-needed donations to benefit the Alzheimer's Association and its vital work to advocate for more Alzheimer funding and increased awareness concerning this devastating disease.
