Meeting the Challenges of Aging on Long Island

Saturday, November 8, 2008

8:30 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

Molloy College Suffolk Center

There are over 800,000 seniors living on Long Island today and the boomers are coming. How will their needs be met? Who will care for them? Vincent J. Russo, elder care attorney and co-host of, Family Comes First™, will lead a lively discussion with a panel of experts on aging. This 2-hour session will be held on Saturday, November 8 from 9:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. at Molloy's Suffolk Center located just off Route 110 at 7180 Republic Airport (Grumman Lane) in East Farmingdale.

Learn from the experts on: how to afford the high cost of living on Long Island, how to access affordable long-term care and what type of estate planning needs to be in place to protect yourself and your family.

Panelist will include:

- Ralph Caruso, Deputy Commissioner, Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs
- Dr. Conn Foley, MD, FACP, MRCPI, Senior Vice President for Medical Services; Chairman, Department of Medicine; Director, Research and Education, Parker Jewish Institute for Health Care & Rehabilitation
- Mary Ann Malack-Ragona, Executive Director/CEO, Alzheimer's Association Long Island
- Marvin Rachlin, Esq., Former Chief Counsel, Nassau County Department of Social Services

A continental breakfast will be served at 8:30 a.m. and the program will start promptly at 9:00 a.m.
