

A Caregiver Education Program

To enhance the care of individuals with dementia

---

communication & behavior management tips

---

“Communication & Behavior Management Tips for People with Dementia” is an opportunity to learn practical solutions for coping with some of the challenges that often arise when caring for a loved one with Alzheimer’s disease or a related dementia.

Topics include: Alzheimer’s disease and dementia basics; communication techniques; managing challenging behaviors and more. This program is especially beneficial for caregivers who are just starting to learn about providing care for individuals with Alzheimer’s or another form of dementia.

Admission is free and open to the public.

Light refreshments will be provided.

Location:

Wicomico Public Library
122 South Division Street
Salisbury, MD 21801

Participants will learn:

- The basics of Alzheimer’s disease and dementia
- Communication difficulties for people with dementia
- Tips for communicating with people with dementia
- Managing challenging behaviors
- The effects of the environment on behavior
- Resources available to help

Register by calling:

Amy Schine, Education Consultant, 410.749.4940

---

Call 1.800.272.3900:

- To learn what resources are available to caregivers and individuals with dementia
- To learn what you can do in the fight against Alzheimer’s disease

Date /Time:

Thursday November 19, 2009
2:00—3:00 p.m.

Presented by:

alzheimer’s  association™

the compassion to care, the leadership to conquer