

safety at home

in the middle stage

People with Alzheimer's can live in their homes, as long as safety measures are in place. As Alzheimer's progresses, a person's abilities change. But with some creativity and problem solving, you can adapt the home environment to support these changes. If someone you know is affected by Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia, please join us to discuss home safety, including:

- adapting the home environment
- firearm safety
- wandering and getting lost
