The Mission Goes On

Resilience in the middle of a global pandemic. Supporting, coaching and educating remotely has become the new norm for millions across the world. This has not been an easy task for most, but has quickly transitioned to a much-needed life line for many. I have never been prouder to work alongside some of this nation's most dedicated volunteers. Amidst, extreme uncertainty, our volunteers and staff transited our care and support services to various virtual platforms to ensure that our constituents could continue to receive the support and services that they had become accustomed to. In the past 8 weeks, we have offered over 100 support groups and education programs, with over 1200 attendees. Our care consultations and early stage programs have all continued, and referrals from physicians continue to come in.

While I am pleased with what we have accomplished thus far, I know that there are many more families that need our help. This is an unprecedented and challenging time for caregivers, both near or far. Our constituents need our support more than ever. There is a movement across that nation called “spontaneous volunteering” Many people feel a need to offer help. My ask of you, if you have friends, colleagues or neighbors that are passionate about our mission, and are seeking ways to get involved and make a difference, please send them our way.

Together we can make a difference in the lives of this impacted by Alzheimer’s Disease and other Dementias, today, tomorrow and beyond.

Again, thank you for all that you do.
