Alzheimer's Advocate in Crete Selected for Esteemed Spokesperson Program

Local resident honored with Purple Profile of Courage for commitment to fighting Alzheimer's

Lincoln, NE – July 1, 2019 – The Alzheimer's Association is pleased to announce Crete resident Jena Johnson has been selected into the Alzheimer's Association's esteemed Purple Profiles of Courage Program. Purple Profiles of Courage awardees are members of various communities in Nebraska who are devoted to sharing their Alzheimer's story publicly and pursuing progress for the disease through engagement with Alzheimer's Association signature events. As a Purple Profiles of Courage awardee, Johnson received comprehensive training to advocate for research and policy advancements in the field, as well as training on how to showcase free programs and services offered to families walking the Alzheimer's journey. She will serve in this role through June 2020.

In the United States, there are over 5 million people with Alzheimer's and that is projected to grow to as many as 16 million people in 2050. In Nebraska alone, there are 34,000 people over the age of 65 living with the disease, and they are supported by 83,000 caregivers. According to the Alzheimer's Association, Alzheimer's is the sixth leading cause of death in the United States, with 698 deaths in Nebraska in 2017.

Johnson currently cares for her mother who is living with Alzheimer's disease. She represents one of 83,000 caregivers for people living with Alzheimer's disease in the state. Johnson will use her new platform to provide advice to peers also in a caregiving role.

"My mom was diagnosed with Alzheimer's at 66, although she started showing signs at 59," Johnson stated. "Currently, I am watching the disease take her away every day. I encourage other families facing a new Alzheimer's diagnosis to educate themselves on the disease and surround themselves with a strong support group."

Elizabeth Chentland, Director of Communications for the Alzheimer's Association Nebraska

Chapter, looks forward to helping Nebraskans better understand Alzheimer's through the voices of people with extensive personal experience.

“We know that this disease affects families so deeply,” Chentland states. “Sometimes, the disease feels overwhelming to families. Being able to learn from a peer that has expertise on the disease and is willing to share their own story becomes critical in increasing awareness about the disease and providing information about care, support, and research opportunities.”
