Education

living with dementia - early stage

Living with Dementia is an education program for persons with early-stage Alzheimer's disease or related dementia and their care partners. The diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia is life-changing and leads to many questions. What will this mean for me and my family? How do I plan for the future? Where can I get the help I need? Join us for this three-part program where you will hear from others who have been where you are. We will discuss what you need to know, what you need to plan, and what you can do as you navigate this chapter of your life.

Who is eligible to attend? People with a diagnosis of either mild cognitive impairment (MCI) or any type of dementia in the early stage who are interested in and able to actively discuss the topics introduced. A care partner, spouse, family member, or close friend is also encouraged to attend.

What is the application process? An in-person and/or phone interview is required prior to attending.

Cost: Free.

Audience: Persons with early stage dementia and their care partners

living well with chronic conditions

The diagnosis of a cognitive condition like Mild Cognitive Impairment (MCI), Alzheimer's disease or another related dementia is life-changing and requires support and information to best manage and cope with these chronic health conditions. Join this six-week program to help you enjoy a healthier life! Learn how to maximize your potential even when a long-term health condition like cognitive impairment or dementia may require you to alter your activities. You will get the support you need, find practical ways to deal with pain and fatigue, discover better nutrition and exercise choices and learn better ways to talk with your doctor and family about health. This program will also help you cope with co-existing ongoing health problems like arthritis, asthma, diabetes, heart disease, mild depression, obesity, cancer and osteoporosis.

Cost: Free.

Audience: Persons with early stage dementia and their care partners

Memories in the Making

The Alzheimer's Association Memories in the Making® program offers creative art expression for individuals with early to the middle stages of Alzheimer's disease. Even after people with dementia have lost the ability to use words, they are able to paint their thoughts, emotions and memories in a manner that is expressive and beautiful. Art becomes their voice.

Cost: $5.00 and covers all four sessions. You are welcome to pay at the door.
